15 YEARS AND BEYOND.....

2010-2025.

"I and one who maintains an orphan would be together in Paradise in the presence of Allah, in the same way as these two fingers are together.' And he pointed out to his index and the middle finger joined together."-Prophet Muhammad{P.B.U.H}

Alhamdulillah Rabbi-l-Alamin.

15 years of service is all by the Mercy of Allah who has carried us from the very beginning.
We thank our donors, partners, staff, and community who have walked this journey with us.

May Allah continue to bless this work, accept it from us, and allow it to grow in excellence.

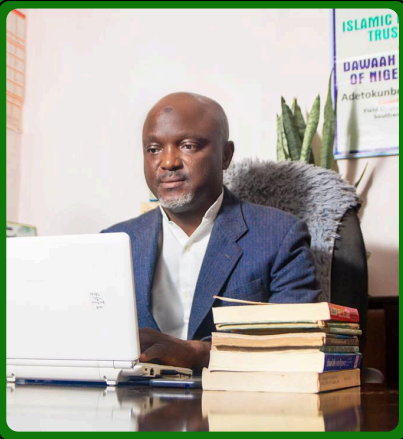
Founder's Note



Dr. Adetokunbo Abdulsalam
The Chief Responsibility Officer(C.R.O)

Fifteen years back, GreenpeaceOVC1110 started from conviction, not comfort. Surviving two plane crashes by the grace of Allah(S.W.T) clarified my purpose: serve humanity-orphans and vulnerable children.

Since 2010, from a divine purpose to a thriving community all across Nigeria, we've kept to the basics—education, healthcare, and steady support.

After 15 years, the mission is still personal and practical: by 2050, 1110 empowered OVC. real progress, every day.

We thank every donor, volunteer, staff, and friend who stood by this vision. May Allah reward your consistency and love.

A SHORT HISTORY

Greenpeace OVC1110 was established on November 2010 with the support of Mrs. Aisha Tinubu and Justice Wale Abiru. The code-name OVC1110 reflects our focus on Orphans and Vulnerable Children, and the month and year of our establishment.

For 15 years, Greenpeace OVC110 has served orphans, vulnerable children, youth, widows, and the elderly in 13 communities across Southwest Nigeria. Through education, workshops, healthcare, food distribution, zakah, mentorship, we have impacted thousands of lives.

Our mission is clear: "To mitigate the impact of poverty among indigent orphans and vulnerable children in Nigeria."

Alhamdulillah. Today, Greenpeace supports over 350 children on scholarship, has reached over 5,000 people with medical services, and provided food aid to more than 25,000 beneficiaries.

As we mark 15 years, we remain committed to a future where every vulnerable child is nurtured, empowered, and given the chance to thrive.

4 HEAR OUR STORIES

Awwal, one of our young Huffāz at Greenpeace Home, carries himself with a love for leadership — "making the stars shine," as he beautifully puts it. He enjoys sharing what he learns about Islam, and he especially treasures excursions to the outside world, karate practice, and the spirit of Ramadan Aid. Along his journey here, he has picked up valuable skills like operating a computer and holding onto strong moral values. Awwal dreams of becoming an optician — not just any, but a military optician, combining service with skill.

Taiwo, the other half of our beloved twins at Greenpeace OVC1110, is an enthusiastic young lecturer who loves both learning and teaching Islam. Among his favorite memories are the joyful events, especially the End-of-Year party with his peers. Taiwo dreams of becoming an Islamic lecturer and a good leader — inspired by Dr. Tokunbo — while striving each day to become a better person. To him, Greenpeace Home is simply a "Blessed Home."

Zeenat is one of our bright students at Greenpeace Academy. What excites her most is going to new places with her classmates, lending a hand to people, and giving in Sadaqah. Along her journey here, she has learned about the great stories of past leaders of Islam, lessons that inspire her deeply. Looking ahead, Zeenat dreams of becoming a researcher who studies new illnesses and discovers cures — a goal that reflects both her curiosity and compassion.

Yesmeen, a bright 13-year-old, says her favorite part of Greenpeace OVC1110 is the way children are supported through events, activities, and excursions. One moment that stayed with her was attending the birthday party of Alhaji Olu Lawal, where she met many new people and enjoyed the lively atmosphere. Inspired by the care and encouragement she receives here, Yesmeen dreams of becoming a surgeon one day, In shā' Allāh — to help people and make a difference.

A NOTE OF GRATITUDE

To each and every single one of our donors, partners, friends and supporters —

Jazakumullah khayran.
This is your legacy too.

Your compassion and generosity has turned faith into action. From the feeding programs that sustain hundreds of children daily, to the orphan scholarships, to the support of women in their businesses, to the annual Ramadan food program, to the digital academy that now serves the OVC with exposure to the digital world.
You turned our vision into a living, breathing proof that humanity still cares.

Many of you have contributed consistently, wholeheartedly, quietly. Yet every act of kindness has built a wall of protection around these children.

As we embark on our most ambitious project yet — Greenpeace Silicon Hub — we extend our heartfelt gratitude and invite you to remain part of this legacy.

You have not just donated — you have planted seeds of change.

15 YEARS AND BEYOND...

Our destination is clear - By 2050, GreenpeaceOVC1110 aims to have empowered 1,110 orphans — not just housed or fed them, but equipped them to stand tall, skilled, and faithful.

We dream of a network of alumni who will go back to their communities as engineers, farmers, teachers, imams, mothers, and leaders — people who understand that their lives are a trust, not a transaction.

We are laying foundations for that future now: a Waqf endowment, expanding our facilities, utilizing new modern curriculums on Islam, building digital literacy programs, and creating partnerships that sustain us for decades. We are also calling for collaboration, not competition.

As Dr. Abdulsalam often says, "Every organization should have its Dawah of Priority."

Ours is the orphan. Yours may be another. Together, we can form a society where service is focused, sincere, and sustained.

"We don't want poverty or lack of education to push children into cities to become miscreants. Instead, we want to empower them within their communities to become useful, responsible, and relevant citizens."

[Awwal: "When I grow up, I want to help children like me."]
